

About the Authors

Lynette L. Carl, PharmD, BCPS, is a consultant pharmacist and a Board Certified Pharmacotherapy Specialist. Dr. Carl is currently the Clinical Coordinator for Pharmacy Services at Largo Medical Center in Largo, Florida. Dr. Carl obtained her BS in Pharmacy from the University of Florida and her Doctorate in Pharmacy at the Medical University of South Carolina. She completed a post-doctoral Residency in Infectious Disease at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, University of Pennsylvania Hospital, and Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. Dr. Carl has practiced as a Consultant Pharmacist in hospital, psychiatric, home care, and skilled nursing facilities. Her clinical practice experience includes infectious disease, critical care, nutrition support, geriatrics, internal medicine, anticoagulation, cardiology, and pain management. Dr. Carl has established clinical pharmacy services that include anticoagulation clinics, pharmacokinetic dosing services, nutrition support, monitoring services, and education programs for patients and health care professionals in several hospitals and home care pharmacies. Dr. Carl has served as clinical adjunct faculty, precepting BS and PharmD students from Mercer University, University of Florida, Nova University, and Florida A&M University. She has lectured to pharmacists and other health care professions on topics of pharmacotherapy and has also served on the speakers bureau of Glaxo Pharmaceuticals and Smith Kline Beecham Pharmaceuticals. She has conducted research and published articles in the area of antibiotic therapy use in infectious disease.

Peter R. Johnson, PhD, received his undergraduate degree in Speech-Language Pathology from Northern Illinois University. He received his MS and PhD in Speech-Language

Pathology from the University of Pittsburgh. He also received an Executive Graduate Degree in Health Care Financial Management from Ohio State University. Dr. Johnson has worked in acute care hospital settings, home care, outpatient clinics, and long-term care. He has written numerous articles on dysphagia management. Dr. Johnson served as a Column Editor for the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association Special Interest Division (ASHA SID) 13 Dysphagia newsletter and for the ASHA SID 11 newsletter. He is on the Executive Board of the Florida Association of Speech Language Pathologists and Audiologists. He is the recipient of the President's Award and the Outstanding Service Award. He has lectured at various hospitals and universities on the subject of dysphagia management. Dr. Johnson is currently the Speech Mentor with Select Medical Rehabilitation Services. He is also a clinical and research affiliate with the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders at the University of South Florida. In his capacity at USF, Dr. Johnson has assisted in the development and implementation of an Advanced Dysphagia Certificate Program.