

List of Figures

Figure 8.1: Continuum of Accommodations and Responsibilities	195
Figure 8.2: Checklist of Communication Skills Considered Essential to Classroom and Occupational Success	201
Figure 9.1: Direct Assessment of Older Students	210
Figure 9.2: A Clinician’s Model of Expressive Communicative Competence.....	243
Figure 11.1: Service Delivery Model Options	294
Figure 12.1: Direct Intervention of Older Students.....	324
Figure 12.2: Problem-Solving Chart	333
Figure 12.3: Theoretical Explanations for Learning	345
Figure 12.4: Oral Communication Intervention Approaches.....	353
Figure 12.5: Rules of Conversation Poster	354
Figure 13.1: Organize Your Information Poster.....	376
Figure 14.1: Major Transition Points for Preadolescents and Adolescents	396

© copyrighted material by PRO-ED, Inc.

List of Tables

Table 1.1: Theories of Adolescence.....	15
Table 2.1: Characteristics of Tasks and Stages of Typical Adolescence	36
Table 2.2: Percentage of Students at Each Cognitive Level	40
Table 2.3: Overview of Bloom et al.'s (1956) Taxonomy	45
Table 3.1: Average Number of Words Used per Communication Unit (by Grade)—Oral Language	59
Table 3.2: Percentage of Total Words in Mazes Used (by Grade)—Oral Language	60
Table 3.3: Average Number of Words Produced per Maze (by Grade)—Oral Language.....	61
Table 3.4: Average Number of Dependent Clauses per Communication Unit— Oral Language	62
Table 3.5: Average Number of Elaboration Index Points per Communication Unit— Oral Language	63
Table 3.6: Frequency of Communication Behaviors in 10-Minute Conversations: Conversational Partner Differences (Reported as Means)	68
Table 3.7: Frequency of Communication Behaviors in 10-Minute Conversations: Gender Differences (Reported as Means).....	69
Table 3.8: Frequency of Communication Behaviors in 10-Minute Conversations: Grade-Level Differences (Reported as Means)	70
Table 3.9: MLUs Obtained by Leadholm and J. Miller (1992) for Children in Two Speaking Modes (N = 167)	73
Table 3.10: Text Differences	75
Table 3.11: Areas of Gradual Improvement in Persuasion and Negotiation as School-Age Children and Adolescents Mature	77
Table 4.1: Task Analysis of Reading Skills.....	87
Table 4.2: Average Number of Words per Communication Unit—Written Language	93
Table 4.3: Average Number of Words per Communication Unit— Comparison of Oral and Written Language (Mean).....	94

Communication Solutions for Older Students

Table 4.4: Average Number of Dependent Clauses per Communication Unit—Written Language	95
Table 4.5: Average Number of Dependent Clauses per Communication Unit—Comparison of Oral and Written Language.....	96
Table 4.6: Average Number of Elaboration Index Points per Communication Unit—Written Language	97
Table 4.7: Average Number of Elaboration Index Points per Communication Unit.....	98
Table 4.8: Stages of Spelling Development.....	101
Table 5.1: Phonemic Contrasts between African American English (AAE) and Standard American English (SAE)	110
Table 5.2: Grammatical Contrasts between African American English (AAE) and Standard American English (SAE)	111
Table 5.3: Phonemic Contrasts between Latino English (LE) and Standard American English (SAE)	113
Table 5.4: Grammatical Contrasts between Latino English (LE) and Standard American English (SAE)	114
Table 5.5: Phonemic Contrasts between Asian English (AE) and Standard American English (SAE)	116
Table 5.6: Grammatical Contrasts between Asian English (AE) and Standard American English (SAE)	117
Table 5.7: Semantic and Pragmatic Contrasts between Standard American English (SAE) and Four Major Dialects.....	119
Table 6.1: Characteristic Expectations and Problems of Older School-Age Students with Language Disorders.....	133
Table 7.1: Immediate and Delayed Consequences of TBI in Adolescence.....	155
Table 8.1: Questions to Ask to Determine Explanatory Factors Contributing to Communication Disorders	181
Table 8.2: Characteristics of Authentic Tests	183
Table 8.3: Employment Skills Profile	199
Table 8.4: A Sample of Standardized Multicultural Tests.....	204

Table 8.5: Communication Dimensions to Assess Using Ethnographic Methods	205
Table 9.1: Emotional Intelligence Dimensions and Competencies	215
Table 9.2: Assessment of Cognitive Functions.....	217
Table 9.3: Assessment of Linguistic Features	219
Table 9.4: Assessment of Discourse.....	221
Table 9.5: Assessment of Reading.....	228
Table 9.6: Assessment of Writing	229
Table 9.7: Assessment of Meta-abilities	231
Table 9.8: Assessment of Nonverbal Communication Skills	233
Table 9.9: Clinical Discourse Analysis	242
Table 9.10: Formal Tests for Assessing Cognitive and Communication Behaviors	258
Table 11.1: Unique Challenges to Overcome during Collaborative Consultation at the Secondary Level	296
Table 11.2: Comprehensive Delivery Model for Secondary Level Students.....	299
Table 12.1: Skills to Teach during Intervention.....	335
Table 12.2: Strong and Weak Bridging by Students.....	348
Table 12.3: Classification Schemes of Typical School Writing Genres	361
Table 13.1: Story Elements Guide for Narrators.....	372
Table 13.2: Key Words and Phrases for Signaling Expository Text Structures.....	377
Table 14.1: Descriptions of Middle School (or Junior High School) and High School.....	399
Table 14.2: Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA, 1990) Requirements.....	415
Table 14.3: Number and Percentage of Students Ages 17 and Older Graduating with a Standard Diploma, 1997-98	417
Table 14.4: Transition Planning.....	418
Table 15.1: Comparison of Beliefs and Motivations of Four Generations	431
Table 15.2: Survey of University Programs in Communication Sciences and Disorders	433
Table 15.3: 2002 Survey Data Comparing Degree Program Responses.....	434