

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Kristine S. Retherford, Ph.D., is a professor of communication disorders at the University of Wisconsin—Eau Claire. She was Director of Clinical Programs in Communication Disorders for seven years and currently supervises undergraduate and graduate students working with preschool and school-age children who have language disorders, in the Center for Communication Disorders. She teaches graduate and undergraduate courses in normal communication development, clinical procedures in communication disorders, pediatric organic disorders, and treatment of language delays and disorders in children. Dr. Retherford frequently presents at inservices and workshops on language analysis and on intervention strategies for children with language disorders.

© copyrighted material by PRO-ED, Inc.