

About the Authors

Paul and Maureen

Paul F. Johnson has developed products and software for LinguiSystems since 1990. He is the author or co-author of many LinguiSystems products, including titles in the Spotlight, 50 Quick-Play, and No-Glamour series. He has particular interests in developing critical thinking, social, and communication skills in children and adults and feels that solid written and verbal communication skills are not only essential to social and career success, but lead to more fulfilling lives and relationships. Paul enjoys quiet time with his family, reading, playing the guitar, and cooking.

Paul and Maureen, 1998

Maureen E. Johnson is a student at Beloit College in Beloit, Wisconsin, where she studies creative writing and media. At the time of the initial release of this book, she is pursuing classes in British literature and history at the University of Galway, Ireland. Maureen contributed several of the reading passages included in Word Feast Middle School for Figurative Language and this is her first published work. In addition to her interest in writing, she is an avid music fan and an accomplished fiber artist specializing in knitted and crocheted creations.
