ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Nickola Wolf Nelson, Ph.D., C.C.C.-Sp, is Associate Professor of Speech Pathology and Audiology at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. Her B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. are from Wichita State University. She has worked in school, clinic, and university settings. When the first edition of this book was written, she was serving as speech-language consultant specialist for Berrien County Intermediate School District in Michigan (1976-1981).

Nelson's research and writing center on problems experienced by language-learning impaired children in school contexts. However, her broad clinical experience has enabled her to write this book, which crosses diagnostic categories and levels of severity. Her articles and chapters have appeared in a variety of professional journals (Topics in Language Disorders, Seminars in Speech and Language, Child Development, Journal of Learning Disabilities) and books.

Nelson is a Fellow of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the International Academy for Research in Learning Disabilities. She is a member of the editorial board of the Journal for Childhood Communication Disorders, and is currently serving as President of the Michigan Speech-Language-Hearing Association.
