

Contents

Acknowledgments	iv
1 An Overview of Restraint and Seclusion in the Schools	1
Basic Interventions	1
Background	2
Risks Associated With Using Restraint and Seclusion	3
Definition of Terms	4
2 Serious Behavioral Difficulties as Problems of Self-Regulation	5
Emotional and Behavioral Dysregulation	5
Techniques for Calm	7
The Importance of Relationship in Improving Self-Regulation	9
Self-Regulation Skills	11
3 A Model for Positive Alternatives to Restraint and Seclusion	13
Referral	13
Meetings and Conferences	13
Establishing Goals	14
Description of the Materials, and Directions for Use	14
Appendix 3.A: Referral Discussion Guide	21
Appendix 3.B: Close Monitoring of Behavior	29
4 Skill Units	71
Skill Unit 1: Describes physical sensations separately from emotions	73
Skill Unit 2: Expresses emotions verbally	89
Skill Unit 3: Accepts criticism and praise	95
Skill Unit 4: Takes responsibility for actions	101
Skill Unit 5: Initiates a calming strategy after being upset	111
Skill Unit 6: Follows directions from adults	127
Skill Unit 7: Responds to nonverbal cues	137
Skill Unit 8: Demonstrates empathy for others	143
Skill Unit 9: Works productively in a group	149
Skill Unit 10: Identifies consequences before acting	155
Skill Unit 11: Manages transitions	165
Skill Unit 12: Uses resources for obtaining help when getting upset	175
Skill Unit 13: Attends to task, ignores distractions	183
Skill Unit 14: Respects personal boundaries, rights, and property of others	187
Skill Unit 15: Negotiates with others when there is disagreement	193
References	199
About the Authors	203